Founded in 1960, Rubino Chem stands as a hallmark of Italian excellence in the chemical industry, distinguished by its research, development, and production of essences, detergents, sanitizers, and disinfectants for both domestic and professional use, as well as polymers and foaming agents for industrial applications. With a well-established commercial network, the company operates successfully in both national and international markets. Its strength lies in the ability to combine a solid tradition with continuous investment in research and innovation, resulting in advanced and high-performance chemical solutions.
